Farming : students can learn about what we do for environmental conservation with our Muong instructors : through planting, gardening, eco farming, varieties of local plants and animals, green tea culture, taking care of pets and farm animals, maintaining wildlife and allow it to flourish, about water and rice farming. Depending on the seasons, there will always be new things to learn, new plants growing, new flowers blooming, butterflies, dragonflies, lizards, squirrels to spot around the land.

Cooking : Then students can learn to prepare and grow vegetables seeds and small plants, then harvest pre grown veggies and have a cooking class and tasting of original local or revisited recipes; even a friendly cooking contest.

Discovery : Students also go on bike ride tours to visit local villages and different points of interest, learning about Muong way of life, architecture and culture. Students really enjoy this part, especially older ones.

Creative : Students also learn about French or Viet-Muong culture via different resources, films, songs, folk tales - or even in our catering or service approach, take inspiration to write up short plays, rehearse and perform. We have lots of costumes and other accessories they can borrow or they can create their own with natural or basic material available and add extra challenge to the process. Alternatives are storytelling, poem reading, music or dance performances.

When the group's focus is on art and creativity, we've had students making own short videos or photo series on a theme of their choice and there's a screening of all works presented by each group followed by a q&a.

Goals : our main goals being provide and maintain full time training and employment for local villagers – mostly young women, wives and mothers - in sustainable tourism and preserve our beautiful Muong nature and land, all guests, by staying with us, contribute to help us achieving these goals.
